
CITY CHIC

Summer's Hottest Trends From New York's Top Designers

Take your home to the next level this Summer with help from New York's finest interior design experts, who share their favorite trend of the season.

GEM-LIKE POWDER ROOMS

AMY LAU DESIGN
Amy Lau

Amy Lau Design creates interiors known for their warmth, expressiveness and impeccable attention to detail. Embracing both art and design, Amy Lau personalizes each space with vintage and contemporary pieces as well as site-specific commissions, fusing twentieth century design icons with twentyfirst century artisans, creating the heirlooms of tomorrow, today.

"Gem-like powder bathrooms are the quintessential calling card, so they are the perfect room in any home to add exquisite and unique details inspired by the environment. This spirited powder room reflects the beach nearby; I wanted to create a "memory box" of sea shore curiosities. The very special Lunaris Smoke wallpaper by Calico Wallpaper is reminiscent of the random shapes and bubbles formed when the ocean pulls back after each wave. A custom agate sink in the color and texture of sea shells also echoes the pendant which mimics sand dollars, and Andre Joyau's organically-shaped custom vanity is the color of sun kissed driftwood. The finishing touch in any space is always thoughtful accessories: provide exotic hand towels, add a burst of color with flowers, and light a candle to enliven the senses and add to the inviting atmosphere."